

Eazy-Ira Foundation

About Us:

“Love in Action, Hope in Every Child.”

Eazy-Ira Foundation is a youth-led, faith-driven nonprofit organization founded to restore hope, dignity, and opportunity to vulnerable children — especially those from low-income and struggling families in Rwanda.

How It All Started

The idea of Eazy-Ira Foundation was born in the heart of a passionate student, (DUKUNDANE Pasteur), who was studying at the “Adventist University of Central Africa (AUCA)”. Witnessing young children living in the streets and coming into the neighborhood to beg for food deeply moved him.

Rather than ignoring their pain, he took action. Starting with just six children, Pastor began gathering them every “Sabbath afternoon”, collecting leftover food from the university’s community kitchen to share with them. They met in a small room, without enough space or food — but full of love, prayer, and care. As the initiative grew, Pastor shared his vision with friends. Some refused, others underestimated him. But ultimately, a team of “12 AUCA students” stood with him, united by one goal: “to serve children with love and hope”.

Why the Name “Eazy-Ira”?

Before founding the organization, “DUKUNDANE Pasteur” used the name “Eazy-Ira” as his “stage name” to represent his music and artistic identity. It symbolized expression, creativity, and a desire to inspire. When the foundation was created, the team chose to retain the name “Eazy-Ira” to reflect the same spirit of “hope, transformation, and purpose” — this time through “service” and “compassion” rather than art.

Thus, the “Eazy-Ira Foundation” was born — not just as a name, but as a mission.
